Question 7:

Do you require that details be provided in respect of agents' commissions associated with the transaction?		If yes: a) Do you require the amounts of commissions to be disclosed?	If yes, the amounts of commissions must be disclosed:		Elaboration for "other" answers and/or any additional comments/clarifications:
Australia	Yes, always	Yes, always	at the time of application	X	At a minimum, the exporter is asked to indicate amount of commissions to be paid to agent's outside of Australia. EFIC can at its discretion require additional information as part of its due diligence process in evaluating an application and where there are concerns about the amount paid or payable. The details EFIC may require include, among others, the agent's name, and the specific purpose of the payment and the work to be undertaken by the agent. When a transaction has been underwritten, the exporter is required to provide a written declaration prior to each drawdown of any other payments or incentives given to a third party (including those payments previously declared to EFIC) detailing the amount, purpose and recipient of said payments.

Question 7:

Do you require that details be provided in respect of agents' commissions associated with the transaction?		If yes: a) Do you require the amounts of commissions to be disclosed?	If yes, the amounts of commissions must be disclosed:		Elaboration for "other" answers and/or any additional comments/clarifications:
United States (EXIM)	Yes, sometimes	Yes, sometimes	at the time of application		Exporters are required to disclose on the Exporter's Certificate, prior to approval of disbursements, any fees or arrangements that are not regular commissions or fees to regular sales agents, brokers or representatives or that are not readily identifiable on the exporter's books and records as to amount and purpose. Exporters also are required to provide information regarding the recipient of any such commission. In addition to these programmatic requirements, Ex-Im Bank fairly routinely inquires about commissions in specific cases. For example, Ex-Im Bank reviews the price reasonableness of all long-term and medium-term transactions, which assists in determining whether the cost of administrative fees or commissions is reflected in the amount of support requested from Ex-Im Bank. Ex-Im Bank may review the appropriateness of supporting commissions at a number of points during the course of a transaction, including pre-authorization, pre-disbursement, and claims evaluation, and may request additional information regarding the amount, level and purpose of such commission as part of such review. In addition, Ex-Im Bank may seek information about commissions as part of its inquiry into how a transaction was originated, in order to assess the creditworthiness of the transaction.

d) Do you require that details (e.g. name, company, address) be provided in respect of the agent(s) to whom commissions are paid?		If yes, assessment is made:		Elaboration for "other" answers and/or any additional comments/clarifications:
Germany	Yes, sometimes	at the time of application		EH requires details to be provided in case there is a reason to suspect. A reason to suspect is for example supposed whenever an exporter is listed on the publicly available debarment list or in case we have been informed that the exporter or anyone acting on behalf of the exporter is currently under charge in a national court or within a five year period preceding has been convicted in a national court or has been subject to equivalent administrative measures for violation of laws against bribery. Regarding the level of commission we try to find out whether there is a standard business practice.

Turkey	Yes, sometimes	at the time of application		Although Turk Eximbank is off-cover for the agents' commissions, we scrutinize the details of any types of commissions in the contracts. In case we detect an agent's commission, we exclude it from the cover. We would like to clarify that Turkey never gives cover or finances the agent's commissions under its programs. However, "expenses" as a breakdown item of the contract is always scrutinized. For small-value-short terms transactions which do not include any "services" or "expenses" item, Turk Eximbank always makes the disbursements against the customs documentations which does not leave any unidentified portion in the costs. In the case of higher volume- medium-long term transactions, we always require the exporter give explanation on every item of costs breakdown. As a result, Turkey's "undertaking review of the agents' commissions in certain circumstances" mentioned in the footnote refers to the scrutiny of the costs breakdown and the right of loan officers to ask all the details of a contract.
