

2019
#GGSD
Forum

LeRoy
Hollenbeck

Director Social Responsibility & Community Development,
Freeport-McMoRan

Currently Director, Social Responsibility and Community Development for Freeport McMoRan, Phoenix, Arizona, U.S., responsible for providing advice and guidance on community programs, stakeholder engagement and social investments at PT Freeport Indonesia operations in Papua, Indonesia.

In addition, over four decades of experience throughout Asia and the Pacific region, including 35+ years in Indonesia (12+ in Papua province), Mr. Hollenbeck was the CEO of the The John Fawcett Foundation (2012-2015), a Bali-based eye health care NGO providing free cataract surgeries to poor Indonesians; he was Director of the United Nations Asian and Pacific Center for Agricultural Engineering and Machinery (UN-CSAM), Beijing (2010-2012); a Senior Economics Affairs Officer at UN-CAPSA in Bogor, Indonesia (2009-2010); a Senior Advisor to three successive Governors in Aceh province, Indonesia (2005-2008) at an USAID-funded Aceh Technical Assistance Recovery Project; a Senior Advisor for ExxonMobil's VP Public Affairs (2008-2009), East & Central Java, Indonesia, at an oil and gas development project; a Chief of Party for the USAID-funded DFLGI Project (2001-2005), and established a sustainable Indonesian foundation to improve local governance. He also served as Senior Manager for PT Freeport Indonesia's (PTFI) Sustainable Development Department (1995-2001).

He started his international development career in 1972 as a US Peace Corps volunteer in the Philippines. Received a M.Sc. (1985) in Agriculture & Resources Economics, University of Hawaii (East-West Center), and a B.Sc. (1972) in Resources Development, Michigan State University.