

Julien Salanié

---

Julien Salanié is an Associate Professor of economics at Department of Economics and Management at Jean Monnet University of Saint-Etienne (France) and researcher at the GATE, a multi-university research unit in economics. He holds a M.Sc. in agronomy and a Ph.D. in economics. His research focuses on the interplay between agriculture, the environment and urban development at the urban fringe. He has published in the areas of urban economics, agricultural economics and environmental and resources economics as well as in interdisciplinary journals.

Julien Salanié is director of the Master degree in Local Development at Jean Monnet University and also serves as editor-in-chief of the Review of Agricultural, Food and Environmental Studies.