Susanna Fuller

Marine Biologist and Senior Marine Co-ordinator, Ecology Action Centre, Canada

Susanna Fuller is a Senior Marine Coordinator at the Ecology Action Centre, based in Halifax. She has a Phd. in Marine Biology from Dalhousie University and a BSc. from McGill University. Six months spent at sea during her high school years catalyzed her interest in the oceans and in marine conservation. Susanna works at the science-policy-economic interface to achieve meaningful protection to oceans both within Canadian waters and on the adjacent high seas. Susanna sat on the advisory committee for the Eastern Scotian Shelf Integrated Fisheries Management planning process, and works on spatial conservation measures including marine protected areas and fisheries closures. She is on the steering committee of SeaChoice, Canada's Sustainable Seafood Program, the High Seas Alliance, and a board member of the Deep Sea Conservation Coalition and Ecotrust Canada.
