

Christopher Pommerening

Founder of LearnLife (Spain)

Positively Changing Worldwide Education: Christopher Pommerening, founder and Chief Empowerment Officer of Learnlife. He started his professional career in Spain in 1998 where he co-founded AutoScout24 Spain. In 2002 he founded the venture capital company ACTIVE Venture Partners, one of Europe's entrepreneurial-driven VC companies. In 2017, after two years of preparation and research, the high impact entrepreneur and learning visionary started Learnlife, his "once in a life-time" adventure aiming to change the world's learning landscape. Together with a global team of learning experts and thought leaders he is on the mission to positively change education worldwide. He is building an open ecosystem for a new lifelong learning paradigm to empower 100 million learners by 2030. The new paradigm is already implemented and validated in the first Learning Hub in Barcelona. Learnlife is the process of building a 20.000 m2 lighthouse for learning in Germany followed by 2.000 learning hubs around the world, enabling any government, school leader or teacher to access and experience international learning innovation.

Christopher is a happily married father of two boys and a baby girl.