

Daniel Leeds

President, Fulcrum Investments (United States)

Dan Leeds, a former business executive, is an organizer and advocate for education. He cofounded: Education Champions with the goal to elevate the importance of education (cradle through career) and support elected officials that champion education; the National Public Education Support Fund (NPESF.org), which organizes the Education Funder Strategy Group, Grantmakers for Thriving Youth, the Partnership for the Future of Learning; the Global Science of Learning Education Network; Education 2020 and international study tours of high performing education systems; and helped found the Alliance for Excellent Education (All4ed.org).

Dan, All4ed.org and NPESF.org have been proponents of looking at education in a global perspective and were early supporters of PISA in the United States. Dan's recent education work also focuses on the Science of Learning.

Until the sale of CMP Media in 1999, Dan was President of International Publishing. CMP, a leading technology media company, that was cited as "One of the Best Companies to Work For" by Fortune and Working Women Magazines.

Dan and his wife have 4 adult children.